HIRING TEAM
BUNCH
TORONTO, ONTARIO

Dear Bunch Hiring Team,

I'm writing to you today in regards to the Junior Full Stack Developer position posted on LinkedIn. I am a recent graduate of the Lighthouse Labs web development bootcamp, and am seeking opportunities as a Full Stack Developer. During my time at Lighthouse I developed a passion for creating interactive UIs in React, and am very interested in continuing to work within this ecosystem at a supportive and creative company like Bunch.

A recent project I worked on, BetterTrip, is a travel planner that allows you to search locations and add them to your calendar itinerary. This application utilizes 5 different APIs and acts as a one-stop shop for travelers. Built with a React front-end and Ruby on Rails back-end, I believe it highlights both my skills and abilities. I have also recently completed 20 javascript katas on CodeWars, made a Conway's Game of Life React-Redux app, and built a full-stack Weather App with React and Ruby on Rails. My latest project, a React number guesser, was built as a means to practice integration and unit testing.

As a junior in this field I am very motivated to continue to learn new concepts, programming languages, and frameworks. With a background in medicine, I have excellent reasoning and problem solving skills, and am a highly collaborative individual who thrives in a team environment. I'm readily available via phone or email, and am eager for a future conversation where I could expand on my experience and why I would make an excellent addition to the Bunch team.

Thank you so much for your time!

Sincerely,

Jashan Brar
